BIDDER FROM NEW YORK

J. & W. SELIGMAN OFFER TO TAKE SCHOOL BOARD LOAN.

But They Must Close the Deal To-Day

—Board May Have to Fall Back on Indianapolis.

Yesterday the finance committee of the board of school commissioners met to open bids for the temporary loan of $140,000, due yesterday, and which, according to law, must be refunded to-day. There was but one bid—that of J. & W. Seligman, brokers, of New York. The firm offered to loan the board $140,000 at 6 per cent. interest, and to pay the premium of 50c. That with the bid at 4 per cent. for $20,000 of the loan made by the Union Trust Company, on the 15th, completes the amount necessary to refund the temporary loan of $140,000.

By a provision of the law governing the board, this temporary loan cannot be made for one year to run into the next, and the custom has been to make it for six months only at a time. The notes have no days of grace in which to be paid, and the $140,000 to be refunded was, therefore, due yesterday, and is now technically in default. But it has been understood with persons who take the amount of money that it is not to be paid off until the first day of the new school year, the first day on which the board may borrow money with which to meet the notes.

The finance committee will meet again this morning at 10 o'clock, and it is the intention to accept the bid of J. & W. Seligman, provided the board can be induced by wire so as to take up the note now held by the Merchants' National Bank of this city. There is a possibility, however, that the New York brokers will be unwilling to enter into the transaction in this manner. While the Indianapolis School Board has not been asked to accept the note, they have never before been asked to do so, and have no rating of themselves on the financial market. It is customary for brokers, in making such a loan as this, to have their attorneys investigate before doing so, and it may be that the Seligman will insist upon such an investigation. If so the loan cannot be made from them, as the board must have the money to-day.

In case the board has accepted for the above reasons, the board will be at the mercy of the Indianapolis bankers, who may have the amount of money they need and willing to loan it. The temporary loan to be refunded is held by the Farmers, at 4 per cent. interest.

REDUCED THE JUDGMENT.

Judge Stephenson Will Allow Imogene Hyatt Only $5,000.

Recently Mrs. Imogene Hyatt secured a judgment in the Circuit Court at Noblesville against Albert Tucker for $3,000. Judge Stephenson, after giving the case thorough consideration, refused to render judgment on the verdict, holding that the jury's finding was excessive and not warranted by the testimony. To-day he reduced the judgment to $5,000 and entered judgment for that amount. The case will be appealed.

Training School Payments.

To-day the finance committee of the Board of School Commissioners will make the second annual payment on the Manual Training School building. The payment amounts to $2,000, being the note for 2 1/2 per cent. and one of six annual payments.

MONEY QUESTION FIRST

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES EXPRESS THEMSELVES FREELY ON THIS.

Conference of Committee and Candidates To-Day—Myron King Thinks Bland Is the Man to Beat.

The financial question will be the paramount issue in the speeches of Republican orators during this campaign in Indiana, if the opinion of the candidates on the State ticket have much weight in the conference between the committee and candidates which is to be held this afternoon.

Nearly all the candidates on the State ticket were in the city last evening, and they expressed themselves freely, in talking to a Journal reporter on the subject. Below is given a brief digest of what each had to say:

W. D. Robinson, candidate for Governor—While protection and reciprocity form a cardinal principle of the Republican party, the money question is an important one and should be met fearlessly and honestly. I believe in the tariff, and I believe in the money question. I believe in the tariff, and I believe in the money question. I believe in the tariff, and I believe in the money question.

W. D. Owen, candidate for Secretary of State—The tariff is the great question. It is the question that will divide the party. It is the question that will divide the party. It is the question that will divide the party. It is the question that will divide the party.

C. Daily, candidate for Auditor—I believe we ought to get financial literature before the people at once and get them interested in the money question. I believe we ought to get financial literature before the people at once and get them interested in the money question.

F. J. Scholz, candidate for Treasurer—The financial question first and the tariff next. Most of the Democrats are in favor of the tariff, and I am in favor of the tariff. Most of the Democrats are in favor of the tariff, and I am in favor of the tariff.

W. A. Ketcham, candidate for Attorney-General—You cannot always lead a horse to water, much less make him drink. I do not believe in trying to make them drink, but I believe in making them want to drink. I do not believe in trying to make them drink, but I believe in making them want to drink.

Captain John Worrell, who will represent the State in the Democratic primary, said that the financial question should be the first to come up for discussion. We must treat that subject with care, for it is a question that will divide the party. We must treat that subject with care, for it is a question that will divide the party.

Nearly all the Republicans of note who gathered at the Democratic headquarters last evening believe as the State candidates do, that the financial question should be the first to come up for discussion. We must treat that subject with care, for it is a question that will divide the party.

A MECHANICAL FILTER

NEW PHASE APPEARS TO MOTTED PURE-WATER QUESTION.

City Sanitarian and Dr. Hurty Will Go to Louisville To-Day to Inspect the Method There.

Wm. B. Bull, vice president of the O. H. Jewell Filter Company, one of the firms which are conducting filter experiments at Louisville, under the supervision of city authorities, came here yesterday for the purpose of inducing Vice President Davis to consider mechanical filters before adopting the Lawrence (Mass.) sand-bed filter system.

When he was informed that the city had committed to the Lawrence plan by the action of the Board of Health, Mr. Bull decided to have a talk with City Sanitarian Ferguson. Dr. Ferguson informed Mr. Bull that the city had purchased the Lawrence plan, and that the city had committed to the Lawrence plan by the action of the Board of Health.

Mr. Bull said that he was not at liberty to talk at length at present, but that Dr. Ferguson and Hurty would doubtless have some interesting information to impart after their return from Louisville, and that he would be glad to see them in the city and to see the plan in operation, and to make a personal investigation as to the results obtained.

The plans Mr. Davis has outlined provide for the installation of seven acres, with a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons a day. At $70,000 an acre this would require an outlay of $490,000. Then the authority of Mr. Bull's statements mechanical filters of the same capacity a day would cost $100,000. Since the city has been purchasing the Lawrence plan, it is not surprising that the city should be interested in the mechanical filter.

There are two methods of filtration of water in large volumes. One is the sand-bed filter, and the other is the mechanical filter. The sand-bed filter is the one that is used in the city of Louisville, and it is the one that is used in the city of Louisville.

The question at once arises, is the mechanical filter system as good as the sand-bed filter? It is, I understand, because the mechanical filter is the one that is used in the city of Louisville, and it is the one that is used in the city of Louisville.

The city of Louisville has decided to adopt the mechanical filter process for the purification of its water, and it is with reference to this that the city of Louisville has decided to adopt the mechanical filter process for the purification of its water.

Mr. Bull said to a Journal reporter last night that the questions which confront Louisville and Cincinnati are almost identical with those now being discussed here. The matter of cost, he said, was one of interest only to the water company. In his opinion the citizens of Indianapolis are interested only in the matter of obtaining an adequate and inexhaustible supply of pure water.

NO WILLFUL NEGLIGENCE

SO SAYS JUDGE BAKER IN REGARD TO THE STRAWBOARD CASE.

But the Negligence and Carelessness of Mr. May Were Established—A Decision in September.

Yesterday Judge Baker heard more of the argument in the contempt case against the Noblesville strawboard works and its managers. It was argued by the attorneys for the water company that this proceeding is in the nature of a civil action in that it seeks to compel the defendants to carry out the order of the court to prevent the pollution of the water of White river.

The defendants argued that it is wholly a criminal case. There is little difference in regard to the way the facts in the case are viewed by the two sides. Practically all the circumstances of the case are admitted. After the argument Judge Baker said the case could be narrowed down even more than the attorneys had already done; that the only question seemed to be whether the case can punish for contempt for such an act as this, where simple want of extreme care has been the cause of the violation of the injunction of the court, and no willfulness is shown.

Now it is a rule of law that a person who is negligent in his duty is liable for damages to his neighbors, even though it may be for a long time to use it on to have upon his premises, is bound to use diligence in proportion to the danger. I think the duty of the strawboard company is more favorable than to say that having incurred the product of this mill it should be liable for damages to his neighbors.

Now what are the facts? In the first place the pond is placed so near to the stream that the water of the pond is liable to be carried over the stream by the wind. The stream from an escape of the water is greatly enhanced. It appears from the evidence that the pond was substantially full, within a foot or eighteen inches of the top; that three million gallons of that water were thrown in daily. It appears that a week or ten days before the final break occurred, a break was found in the upper part of the embankment.

He was not technically guilty of stealing the horse. Ol Cross, the West Indianapolis horse doctor, who was arrested about two weeks ago, charged with horse stealing, was acquitted by justice of the Peace Nickerson yesterday afternoon. Several weeks ago Cross took a horse, which had been left with him, to another horse doctor on West Pearl street and traded it for a gold-filled watch and $50. Cross then disappeared, and it was supposed he had gone to Albany, N. Y. to accept of a position on a railroad.

Drills and Horse Races. The management of the Fourth of July celebration at their grounds feels that it is their duty to the public to provide, in addition to the four zoovae, three infantry and championship artillery drills, it has succeeded in booking three first-class races in place of one, as has been heretofore announced.

FOUND IN CINCINNATI. Nellie Hillsback, Who Was Supposed to Have Eloped with a Young Man. Nellie Hillsback, of 213 Yates street, who was supposed to have eloped with a young man who had been wanting to marry her, is safe in the care of the police matron at Cincinnati and will be brought home to-day by her father. Monday night patrolman McNulty, of the Cincinnati force, noticed a young girl making inquiries of the man who was supposed to have eloped with her.

HIS HEAD HIT THE RAIL. Fred Hazelton Seriously Hurt While Riding on a Big Four Train. A telegram from Cincinnati yesterday states that Fred Hazelton, the seventeen-year-old son of Dr. Lizzie Hazelton, of No. 4 Ash street, is at the Cincinnati Hospital with a fractured skull. Mr. Hazelton says his son left home last Friday evening to go to Cincinnati with Fred Beerbower, a boy of about his own age, living at No. 175 Massachusetts avenue.
